

Special Issue dedicated to the XIX<sup>o</sup> Congress of SILAE Cagliari, ITALIA • 6-10 settembre 2010

A special issue of the Revista Brasileira de Farmacognosia will be published as a complementary activity following the congress. This special issue will comprise of the best papers presented at the congress. Postgraduate research, being the bedrock of building future researchers, is well recognised within the SILAE for these reasons this special issue will comprise 10 papers from postgraduate researchers.

The SILAE congresses are International events whose organizations are submitted to an International Committee Organizer that is composed of professors from European and Latin America Universities. The Italo - Latin American Ethnomedicine Congress arises from the necessity to value the important potentialities of medicinal and alimentary plants and to find a connection between European and Latin-Americans researchers. The SILAE Congress is an event based articulated in 6 sessions: Anthropology, Ethnobotany, Phytochemistry, Natural Products, Pharmacognosy and Food Chemistry. Information regarding submission of papers for this special issue will be communicated to the authors of accepted abstracts.

All manuscripts should be in English. Guidelines for the publication of manuscripts in Revista Brasileira de Farmacognosia can be found at <http://www.sbfgnosia.org.br/revista/index.html>

We are especially grateful to Revista Brasileira de Farmacognosia, to the Editor Prof. Dr. Cid Aimbiré de Moraes Santos, editorial board and all the reviewers, for the opportunity to publish this special issue. The articles published in Revista Brasileira de Farmacognosia/Brazilian Journal of Pharmacognosy are indexed in:

- ISI (Web of Knowledge)
- Scopus
- SciFinder Scholar (Chemical Abstracts)
- SciELO (Scientific Library Electronic On-Line)
- IPA (International Pharmaceutical Abstracts)
- MAPA (Medicinal and Aromatic Plants Abstracts)
- NAPRALERT (Natural Products Alert)
- NPU (Natural Products Updates)
- LILACS

Guest Editors

Suzana G. Leitão and Luca Rastrelli